

Guest lecturer or guest professor

- full-time or part-time
- temporary (min. 2 to max. 12 months)
- location: Salzburg

The Paracelsus Medical University (PMU) in Salzburg has been offering medical studies since 2003. The Institute of Anatomy and Cell Biology is responsible for the curricular teaching in the subjects of micro- and macroscopic anatomy, embryology and functional anatomy. Its academic staff also contribute to biomedical research in various fields including neurobiology, musculoskeletal and clinical anatomy. With the start of the 2023/2024 academic year this fall, our medical curriculum will change from the current diploma format to an integrated, interdisciplinary bachelor/master's curriculum. While modular composition and enhanced interactivity represent innovative novelty, established components such as the USMLE exam as a crucial criterion and the integrated research experiences remain part of the new curriculum as well. The currently established and the to be newly implemented curricula will be running in parallel for this transitional year.

To support our team in teaching anatomy in 2023/2024, we are offering GUEST LECTURERSHIPS or GUEST PROFESSORSHIPS IN ANATOMY, depending on prior qualifications, as a full-time (40 hours/week) or part-time position for a duration of 2 to 12 months starting as early as or after September 2023.

Your role

- participating in organization, implementation, and execution of curricular teaching in the subject of anatomy, including dissection courses (in English or German) • Introducing the students to the subject-related Step 1 level of the "United States Medical Licensing Examination (USMLE)"

Your profile

- Degree in medicine or related studies (e.g., biology, veterinary medicine) • Extensive experience in teaching the subject of anatomy, including lectures and dissection courses • Proof of pedagogical and didactic competence • Excellent knowledge of the English OR the German language • Ideally, advanced qualifications in academic anatomy (established academic standing in medical education and research; e.g., "habilitation")

We offer

- An interesting, varied and exciting area of responsibility with a stellar student collective
- Participation in an experienced and dynamic team with a collegial and pleasant working atmosphere
- Use of the sports facilities of the University Sports Institute (USI) Salzburg
- Excellent public accessibility (train, bus)
- Canteen within walking distance from the campus
- Possibility of home office and online teaching to a limited extent
- A monthly salary of at least € 4,500 gross/month (for full-time, 14 times a year) depending on qualifications and prior professional experience.

Application information

We look forward to receiving your comprehensive application with CV and letter of motivation as a single pdf-file by February 28, 2023 via email to Univ.-Prof. Dr. med. Jan Pruszkak: jan.pruszkak@pmu.ac.at The PMU aims to increase the proportion of women and therefore explicitly invites female applicants to apply.

Your application will be treated confidentially. We are unable to reimburse travel and subsistence expenses incurred as a result of a selection process. Application documents that have been sent will not be returned. Documents sent by e-mail will be deleted after the selection process has been completed.